OUTDOOR ACTIVITIES

At Stafford Junction we believe that empowering children through education is important. With programs such as HUGS (Helping Us Grow Strong) and Brain Builders, we focus on learning skills that help our students be successful throughout their academic life. We also believe in fun! Activities such as fishing, hiking, and playing sports help our students develop social skills, provide some much needed stress relief, and exposes them to different activities that they may not otherwise have a chance to explore.

Fishing Time

Not So Bad

Ready To Fish

Nine year old Xavier has been a part of Stafford Junction for approximately five years. He came to Stafford Junction as part of the HUGS program, he continued to participate in several programs such as Brain Builders and Summer Junction. Recently he became curious about Field Manager Greg's fishing trips to the Fredericksburg City Dock with Stafford Junction participants. He had one thing holding him back, he did not like the idea of touching a worm or fish. This changed rather quickly as the group of seven unloaded their gear and tackle from the van. Xavier turned out to be a pro! He not only touched a worm, but he also put it on a hook and cast his line out to the flowing Rappahannock River. Although no fish were caught, many wonderful memories were made that day. Xavier caught a sense of adventure and got to experience something new. He was able to bond with friends and enjoy the outdoor adventures that his community has to offer.
